New Vocational School Forests Established Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 28.—New rural consolidated high schools for whites in Georgia are establishing school forests, according to the Georgia Forestry Service, which says that the prospects are that every one of more than one hundred such schools will have forests and carry on the forestry project this year. At a recent conference of directors of vocational teaching in Georgia and representatives of the Georgia Forestry Service, plans were developed for a course calendar in forestry to be used in presenting the subject of forestry. The work, it is stated, has been outlined as a series of jobs to be carried out on the school forests. At this conference, it was also agreed that greater emphasis would be placed on students carrying out forestry home projects, this being one of the requirements of a student seeking to attend the vocational forestry camp. EFFECTS OF DROP IN COST OF LIVING

OLD DOLLAR WORTH $1.18 NOW AND REGULAR WORKERS GAIN AS RESULT.

Washington, Oct. 4.—People who have been working a full week are getting the benefit of an increase in the purchasing power of their dollar, while people who have been getting part-time work under the so-called stagger system have had relatively little benefit from the decreased cost of living.

The difficulty about applying cost of living figures has always been that they are based on weighed averages and such large groupings of statistics made that the man in the street doesn't often recognize the benefits that he is supposed to be receiving.

Thus when the purchasing power of the dollar increases 18 cents it means that the average costs of living have gone down. Food, for instance, decreased 28.5 per cent between June, 1925, and June, 1931, while clothing went down 13.8 per cent and rent diminished by 17.5 per cent. It is the average of these decreases that makes a 15 per cent general average drop in living costs.

Another interesting fact about the figures is that wholesale prices have gone down 35 per cent, but all of this has not yet been passed on to the consumer. It is also true that people who have interest to pay on mortgages or rents on long-term leases have not any great cause, but the recipients of the money have had the benefit of the increased purchasing power of their dollar in many items used in the upkeep of buildings, including labor.

Fate of Railroads Affecting Country

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—Pointing out that the fate of no other industry affects the entire country as does that of the railroads, the Atlanta Constitution editorially asks "What's to be done about it?" Just what the solution of the problem will be would take the wisdom of a Solomon to predict now, according to this leading newspaper, but it adds, "that something must be done, and done, without delay, is clearly apparent."

The newspaper shows that the railroads have been brought to their present position largely as the result of bus and truck competition "which, operating over highways built with tax monies, are permitted to go practically tax free as compared to the railroads' tax paying."

LEGION IS INJURED BY DRY LAW PLEA

Washington, Oct. 4.—Dr. Clarence True Wilson said Saturday prohibitionists "have no particular quarrel" with the American Legion suggestion for a referendum on the dry question.

The preamble to the prohibition resolution adopted at the Detroit convention was given as the basis of dry objection in the weekly clip-sheet of the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals.

Dr. Wilson, general secretary, did not sign the statement but the clip-sheet attributes all expressions of opinion, unless otherwise designated, to the board's secretaries.

The statement, entitled "The American Legion," said:

"The new resolution of the Legion says that the resolution was not in fact 'wet,' that it was simply a request for a constitutional referendum on prohibition in order that the present will of the people may be known."

"The assurance is cheering. It will not alter the fact that the prohibition to that resolution apparently must unfortunately be overlooked by many of those who voted yes on its passage, records an unfavorable verdict on the prohibition law."

"It is the preamble to the resolution passed to which the drys are strongly object, and it is that preamble which has done an injury to the legion itself which we hope is not irreparable."

The statement said the "deepest wound inflicted by this unhappy event is the stepping stone to the legion to make a partisan pronouncement on an issue 'which cuts athwart every class' and in which feeling is 'deep and involved.' Political issues are concerned and the strongest social and religious convictions enter."

It said "most of the small cities, towns and country" were not at Detroit where great delegations "from New York and similar communities" voiced the demand for a blow at prohibition, voiced it in disorderly terms and enforced it by conduct regrettable in the extreme."

Meanwhile headquarters of the national Women's Christian Temperance Union said in a statement "the American Legion idea that the eighteenth amendment was put over while there were 4,000,000 American boys overseas is unjustified in fact."

The statement said the prohibition amendment was guaranteed by the congressional election of November, 1916, "five months before we declared war; much of the important action was taken while practically all our 4,000,000 soldiers were in the United States."

PARNELL ORDERS SPECIAL SESSION

ARKANSAS LEGISLATURE AGREES TO SERVE FREE—WILL COPY TEXAS REDUCTION STATUTE.

Little Rock, Ark., Oct. 4.—An extraordinary session of the legislature was called Saturday by Governor Parnell to convene at noon next Wednesday to enact cotton relief legislation and to clothe the State Highway Authority with power to conduct an investigation of state highway department affairs along with an audit now in progress.

A majority of members of each house stands pledged to serve without expense to the state.

Governor Parnell's call specifies legislation "for the reduction of cotton planting and to compel conservation, preservation and development of the soil and fertility thereof," and legislation to permit the audit board to subpoena witnesses and to require them to testify relative to any contracts made by the highway commission in the expenditure since 1927 of approximately $100,000,000 in the road building program.

A bill containing all the provisions of the recently enacted Texas cotton acreage reduction measure, but drawn to conform with the Arkansas constitution, is ready for introduction in the session immediately after Governor Parnell reads his message.

Governor Parnell said he expected also to see introduced a bill embodying provisions of Governor Huey P. Long's "cotton holiday" plan.

"Whatever cotton relief bills are passed, however," he said, "must contain a repeal clause so that it will not be necessary for me to call the legislature into special session again on an event other cotton producing states do not follow the Texas or other plans."

Inclusion of the audit question in the call came as a surprise to all but Governor Parnell's closest advisers, as he stated earlier in the week the call would include only the question of cotton relief.

GIVE NEW IMPETUS FOR WARM SPRINGS

KIWANIS ARE EXPECTED TO PLEDGE STATE-WIDE AID TO WARM SPRINGS FOUNDATION.

Warm Springs, Ga., Oct. 6.—Fresh impetus has been given to the already vigorous crusade of the National Patient's Committee of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation against infantile paralysis by Manchester Kiwanis Club's tangible evidence of support in the gift of $1,000, and their adoption of resolutions calling on the state convention of Kiwanians at Gainesville to make support of the foundation a major objective.

The Manchester club's resolutions were adopted at an enthusiastic meeting here last week and pledged warm support of the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation's fight on infantile paralysis and the efforts to aid those afflicted to regain their position in society.

At the meeting J. W. Smith, president of the Manchester club, presented the club's gift of $1,000 to Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, who, as chairman of the foundation trustees, broke his resolutions to forego public gatherings this trip to attend the Kiwanian meeting. The governor, who is an honorary member of the Manchester club, expressed his appreciation of the club's generous action.

Members of the Atlanta, Gainesville, Hogsburg, Newman, Thomasville, LaGrange and Americus clubs were present at the meeting and pledged their support of the resolution and predicted its adoption at the Gainesville convention.

Longer and More Cane for Editor

Another contribution of sugar cane for the editor during the week came from our friend W. D. Barnes, living north of Statesboro. His contribution consisted of four stalks almost eight feet long which were the best so far received. Mr. Barnes states that he has almost a half acre in his patch, which promises plenty of syrup for his family and some for his friends.

MAN AND MULE HURT IN WRECK

Romer Barnes, farmer living on the paved highway five miles west of Statesboro, was more or less seriously hurt and his mule was broken up so badly that he was later killed, in collision with a truck Monday afternoon. Mr. Barnes was returning to his home in a wagon. Near Bob Hagins' place he met a truck towing another car. The driver of the rear car, not seeing Mr. Barnes, about to collide with his tow car, swerved so far to his right that he ran into the Barnes team and upset the entire outfit. Mr. Barnes suffered injuries about the neck which were the best so far received. Mr. Barnes states that he has almost a half acre in his patch, which promises plenty of syrup for his family and some for his friends.

HOOVER REGIME IS FULLY ORGANIZED

"COURT OF YES MEN," SOTH-SAYERS AND JESTERS" AS VIEWED BY WESTERN EDITOR.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Obeying the dictum of the poets that "You must go far from the mountain to view its grandeur," the Teton (Idaho) Peak Chronicle thus presents its view of Mr. Hoover and his "Yes Men."

"It is a fact that grows more apparent as time goes on that the greatest court of soothsayers, jesters, 'Yes Men' are the advisors of our President today. First, last and always 'Yes Mr. Hoover,' is their cry."

"Costing $5 per word, this wonderful classic of the soothsayers tells you you can and you can't, you will and you won't, you have and you have not, that most important of all, 'Yes Mr. Hoover, you are right.'"

"Yes," the supporters of the tariff said, we must build a high wall around our chicken coop; so high that our neighbors' chickens can't come over and scratch up our garden; of course we'll go the wall so high that we could not get the feed over to our chickens; who promptly flew over to our neighbors' yards to lay and lay their eggs; 'Yes, Mr. President, we must maintain our high tariff."

"Yes," Mr. President, you are sure of the farmer's vote; why look at the wonderful things you have done for him; you spent the magnificent sum of $500,000,000 to stabilize his prices; that fact that you did not . . . foster and interchange of products among nations by advocating the reduction of most wheat, resulting in 30-cent wheat, is nothing. 'Yes,' Mr. Hoover, you aided the farmer."

"And so we could go on citing the most ridiculous situations that have ever existed in our history, all approved by that wonderful chorus of 'Yes Men!'"

Karl Drelich of Munich provided in his will for distribution of beer four times a year to his employees.

J. E. McCroan, Chairman of Finance Committee.

TEACHERS COLLEGE TO MAKE ADDITIONS

President Guy Wells, acting under instructions of his board of trustees last Saturday contracted with a Vidalia concern for the remodeling of the two dormitories at the Teachers College, work upon which will be commenced at once. The contract calls for the remodeling and repainting of the girls' dormitory and the addition of one-half of its present room capacity, this to be on the third floor which is to be added. The changes at the boys' dormitory, besides the repairs to the roof, will omit the addition of rooms, but the roof will be made to harmonize with the other building and the rooms will be completed later. The improvements contracted for will cost approximately $17,000 and will be completed by the first of January.

The Bulloch county fair will open Monday and continue throughout the entire week. A splendid display of agricultural products and domestic articles will be shown. A team of five from last year's class will go to Savannah and a team from the present class at the city high school, made up of representatives of both junior and senior classes, will go to Waynesboro.

Mr. Hunt's address will be "The Outlook After Fifty Years" while Dr. Campbell's address will be on "Agricultural Outlook for Georgia."

Both these conferences will be well worth while, and anyone who is a member of the Red Cross is invited to attend, but should notify P. G. Franklin, chairman of the local chapter, this week, as it is necessary that each host chapter shall know how many to expect.

FINAL APPEAL FOR SUPPORT OF FAIR

A concise and reasonable appeal is being made to the people of Bulloch and adjoining counties to participate in the support of Bulloch county's fair which opens next Monday, J. E. McCroan, former manager and now chairman of the finance committee, has prepared the following appeal:

To the People of Bulloch and Surrounding Counties:

On next Monday, October 12th, the Bulloch County Exposition will open, and I have been wondering if you people realize that this is their fair. It may be that some of you think that it is being operated for personal gain to those who promote it, but such is not the case. ANNIVERSARY OF IMPORTANT DATE

GEORGE WASHINGTON FIRED
THE FIRST AMERICAN GUN AT YORKTOWN.

About five o'clock in the afternoon of October 9, 1781, General George Washington stood in the American works before Yorktown. In his hand was a smoldering fuse with which he was to fire the first American gun in the bombardment of the town where Lord Cornwallis had taken post. Far to the left he could hear the French battery roaring its menace to the British. The guns of the regiment Tamm had been in action for two hours, pouring shot and shell on the English ships in the river.

Finally the big gun was loaded and primed, and as the gunner stepped back, Washington put the fuse to the touch-hole. There was a defensive roar, a violent concussion, and the cannon belched black smoke and deadly missile. A terrific cannonade ensued, and the surrender of Yorktown was but a few days away.

In the standard work on the Yorktown campaign, quoted by the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, Henry P. Johnston writes of the first shot:

"The journal of more than one American officer mentions the fact that the first shot from the American battery was fired by Washington himself. Colonel Cortlandt remembered that he distinctly heard it crash into some houses in Yorktown. If Captain Samuel Graham, of the seventy-sixth regiment, whose station was directly in the line of fire, was not mistaken as to the particular discharge he refers to in his memoirs, this first shot was singularly fatal. A party of officers from the seventy-sixth were then at dinner in a neighboring building. The British Commissary-General Perkins was with them. One of the officers was an old Scotch lieutenant, who, when the allies first invested the place, was heard to exclaim as he buckled on his sword: 'Come on, Maister Washington. I've unco glad to see you. I've been offered money for my commission, but I could na think of gangin' home without a sight of you. Come on.' Poor fellow! Washington fell on him in a way that was quite unexpected, for that first ball struck and wounded him terribly. It also wounded the quarter-master and adjutant of the seventy-sixth and killed the commissary-general." The siege of Yorktown, which began in all seriousness with this shot, culminated one of the most brilliant military maneuvers in history. It will be remembered that only a few weeks before, General Washington was on the Hudson preparing to attack New York in the event that General Clinton should send troops to Cornwallis or farther south. In the midst of these plans, the commander-in-chief received word that De Grasse was sailing for the Chesapeake with a powerful fleet and a land force.

Washington immediately laid his plans accordingly. He wrote Lafayette to hold Cornwallis on the peninsula of York at all costs. A gesture was made toward New York which completely deceived Clinton. Before the British discovered the ruse, Washington was well on his way to the south.

Quoting again the author named above: "To break up a base of operations, leave the vicinity of a powerful enemy, and enter a new field, more than four hundred miles distant, in order to engage in a single enterprise, is no ordinary effort. For the men of that time it was a great effort."

The soldiers had to march most of the way, and there were only half-starved horses to draw the guns over miserable roads to the place where boats could be secured. Washington thought the matter over thoroughly. He considered every contingency and decided it was the only thing to do. Once his mind was made up he proceeded with energy to carry out his part of the plan. The success of the enterprise depended upon the coincidence of several movements. Washington was determined that the movement should not fail through any fault of his.

The precision with which each unit in this campaign performed its assignment is remarkable. De Grasse, the commander of the French fleet, arrived at the appointed time, there was something of a feat in those days of sailing vessels so dependent upon the weather. The handicaps under which Washington himself labored demanded prodigious effort. He worked almost night and day to get his army safely to Yorktown. No man with less energy could have succeeded so well.

Motorists who ran down Miss Florence McDonald, of Glasgow, robbed her while she lay unconscious and drove away.

NO CHRISTMAS FOR CHINESE CHILDREN

CHRISTIAN BOYS AND GIRLS
MAY HELP TO MAKE "CHINA CHINKS" HAPPY.

C. P. O. Box No. 1234,
Shanghai, China, Sept. 1, 1931.

Dear Editor:
I am writing this letter for the boys and girls who read your excellent paper. I hope it reaches you in time for your Christmas edition. If it finds a place please send me a marked copy.

As it is almost Christmas let me tell you a bit about Christmas in China. Do you think the Chinese have a happy Christmas? I seldom hear the Chinese say anything about a Happy Christmas. "Happy?" they would say, "Happiness is not on earth." They do not know of Jesus becoming a little boy, of the Star in the East, of the wise men, or of the angels' song. They know nothing of all the happiness and peace that Jesus brought. The children have no Christmas tree and no Santa Claus.

They do not hang up their stockings on Christmas eve. If they did, poor things, their stockings would be so full of holes that a present would fall right through. Indeed, many little "China Chink" boys and girls do not have a stocking "to their name."

Sometimes on Christmas Day, I feel like taking these people all up into my arms and telling them of Jesus, and then getting a great Christmas tree, big enough to hang five hundred million presents upon it, have some candles and other pretty things to make it look attractive, and then carry the people in and, as papa does with baby, let them see their first Christmas tree.

But think what a big Christmas tree that would require! And think how much money it would take to give each one of these poor people a toy, a red and white stick of candy and an orange! More money than is spent in a year for missions to China! And think what a big house it would require to hold these people! So I cannot take them up in my arms; but I can take them up in the arms of prayer and carry them to our Christmas Jesus, and ask Him to give them each a present better a thousand times than toys, fruit and candy. And you can pray with me that these

Chinese girls and boys may have a part in that great Christmas tree whose leaves are for the healing of the nations—that Jesus may take the Chinese all up in His arms and bring them to His Christmas home, which is big enough for all.

You can do more than pray. You can show that you want your prayers answered. You can help answer them by giving. You can give Christmas gifts of dimes and dollars to send the Gospel to your brothers and sisters in China. They really are your brothers and sisters. Even the unsaved Chinese learned men have said, "All on earth are brothers." How much better can we, who love Jesus, say the Chinese are our brothers, and then act as though we truly regarded them so. I know that when Christmas comes near you say to yourself, "Now I must get a present for Charlie and Willie and Mary and papa and mamma." You would feel very much disappointed if you could not give each one at least a little present. Now, next Christmas just remember that you have other brothers and sisters who need a Christmas gift, and send them a share of your spending money. Do you think you can do that? In the next Christmas missionary offering in your church give them at least enough to buy a small Bible. Is that asking too much of you for your brothers and sisters in China?

May Santa Claus visit you all and give you a merry Christmas and blessed, prosperous New Year.

Yours in the Christmas Saviour,

PRESENT TARIFF LOSES BUSINESS

OUR FOREIGN CUSTOMERS ARE TURNING TO OTHER COUN-TRIES FOR GOODS.

Washington, Sept. 29.—Representative Harry C. Canfield (Dem. Ind.), member of the house ways and means committee, in a public statement undertaken to refute the contention of administration spokesmen who assert that the Hawley-Smoot tariff has not injured American foreign trade, but that our commerce has fallen off only as the foreign commerce of other countries has decreased.

"Countries which have been our best customers are turning to other markets for goods they bought in the United States," says Mr. Canfield. "For example, Argentina long our best customer in South America. . . . During the first six months of 1931, Argentina's imports from all countries decreased 24.9 per cent, while for the same period her imports from the United States fell off 57.2 per cent."

Mr. Canfield also cites the case of our best customer, Canada, saying: "During the year ending June 1931, Canada's imports from the United States fell off about 33 per cent, while her imports from the United Kingdom (with which she has a preferential tariff rate) for the same period decreased only 22 per cent. Obviously Canada is turning to England and other countries for goods she formerly bought here."

Mr. Canfield points out that under the new Canadian tariff of June 1st the disparity will be still greater. He cites that at the close of 1929, according to Department of Commerce figures there were 487 American plants in Canada with an investment of about a half-billion dollars. A few days ago, he says, the Canadian press made public the result of a survey showing that the number of American plants in Canada had increased to 1,071 with an investment value of $1,189,590,000.

Mr. Canfield concludes that "American exports are tumbling at a far faster rate than those of other countries, and there can be no other reason for this than the suicidal policy laid down in the Hawley-Smoot tariff act."

STERLING PLAN GAINING FAVOR

Jackson, Miss., Oct. 4.—With adoption in this state of the Texas plan for cotton restriction practically assured, Mississippi legislators were en route home today for a brief rest before the final battle next week.

The Roberts-Siller bill, voted favorably by the senate Thursday, was approved by the house committee on agriculture late yesterday and its passage by the house recommended. The measure, which would curtail planting of cotton in this state in 1932 and 1933 by 30 per cent of the present acreage, has been set as a special order of business in the house at 10 o'clock Tuesday.

Meanwhile, not discouraged by the turn of events, "no-cotton" crusaders from Louisiana, led by W. K. Henderson, fiery radio operator, prepared impassioned pleas to be voiced over the week-end in an effort to force a reconsideration in the house.

PLANT YOUR TREE FOR WASHINGTON

To All Americans:
The 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington will be celebrated in 1932.

Every American should, in some way, aid in the proper observance of this anniversary of the father of our country.

The most fitting of all memorials is a living one—a tree. Every individual can plant a tree. Boards of trade, civic organizations, women's clubs, men's clubs, boys' clubs, cant plan groups of trees, or avenues of trees. National organizations can conduct sectional planting of group of trees and of forests. Towns can plant town forests, states can plant state forests. In a word trees and forests are the true memorials, which not only appeal to every eye, but which the father of our country himself would doubtless declare the most fitting memorial.

George Washington was a lumberman. He conglutinated lumbering operations at different places on the Atlantic seaboard. As a lumberman, a woodman, and a surveyor, Washington knew the value of trees. He would be surprised could he now see what tremendous depletion of our forest resources has taken place in 200 years. As a statesman, with the future of his country ever in mind, he would be a most earnest advocate of the restoration of our forests wherever economically possible. He would realize that the nation must become forest minded.

What finer tribute, then, on the part of the individual, the organization, the community, the state, than the planting of trees and of forests as memorials to George Washington. These trees and forests should be planted when climatic conditions are suitable this year, and in 1932. They should be dedicated in 1932, the anniversary year.

The American Tree Association will send information on how to plant, and what to plant. It will give its aid in inspiring a nation-wide program of such plantings. It will register every individual or group planting, and will give for each of these plantings a special George Washington Bicentennial Tree Planting certificate, and register the planting on the national honor roll.

The American Tree Association is co-operating with the United States Commission for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, which commission is headed by the president of the United States as chairman.

The association calls upon every citizen to plant one or more trees as a living memorial to "The Father of Our Country."

Have You Caught Depression Itch?

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—Atlanta medicals, returning from New York, have reported a disease which might acquire some such popular title as "depression itch."

Dermatologists, or neurologists of the skin, as physicians term the disease, is due almost entirely to the economic depression, it is claimed. It is explained in this way:

Worry, fear and brooding cause changes in the nervous system and as a result there may be burning, stinging and painful sensation in the skin, although the surface of the skin appears normal.

But like the depression, the medicals here, said, the disease can be cured. It is seldom fatal and is not contagious, they pointed out. They counseled avoiding worry as the best preventive of dermatology.

CANNON ASSAILS
BISHOP MOUZON

Roanoke, Va., Oct. 4.—Church circles today were stirred today by the protest of Bishop James Cannon, Jr., against what he termed the "disrespectful treatment" accorded him at the Baltimore conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Sharply criticizing Bishop Edwin D. Mouzon, who presided at the conference, Bishop Cannon uttered his protest at yesterday's final session of the three-day meeting.

He charged that the presiding bishop had not extended to him "the courtesy so uniform under such circumstances as to request a bishop of our church to rise to be introduced without any invitation, either public or personal, to take a seat on the platform."

Bishop Cannon further said he could not countenance "such treatment without an expression of amazement."

Pointing out that he has been attending the conferences since 1888, Bishop Cannon further asserted he had received a telegram from Bishop Mouzon, asking him not to appear at the sessions.

You Can Save Money Buying for Christmas

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 5.—Two months and a half remain until Christmas. These months contain 57 shopping days.

They can be well utilized in doing the Christmas shopping in a leisurely and pleasant way.

Shoppers who do their Christmas buying now will not only be able to select purchases more carefully because the stores are not so crowded as they will be in December, but they can at the same time take advantage of the large purchasing power which the dollar enjoys today.

The dollar may not enjoy quite the same purchasing power in December and it is almost certain it will not attain a greater purchasing power.

Of course, perishables cannot be bought far ahead, but the majority of items on the Christmas list can be bought advantageously at this time and laid away until the holidays arrive.

One of the hardest things to do we know of is to convince a family that an auto is a luxury and easy to do without.

The trouble with many of us is that we are interested in great men's lives only because it brings us a few holidays every year.

A CENTURY AND A HALF

One hundred and fifty years ago tomorrow, on October 9th, 1781, George Washington fired the first shot in the bombardment which resulted in the surrender of Yorktown.

A century and a half is a short time in the life of a nation as compared with the nations of the old world, yet there have been some long strides forward in our own affairs during that hundred and fifty years. The mention of George Washington's name inevitably calls up the cherry tree incident, and from that to the probable fallacy that he was unable to prevaricate even were his own personal interests were at stake.

Whether we are going to believe everything we have been told about George Washington is truth or fiction, the truth of developments since his going away today sounds almost like fiction.

If that day George Washington fired that Yorktown gun somebody had told him that within a century and a half there would be railroads, steamboats, telegraph lines, telephones, paved highways, flying machines, automobiles, submarines, television, matches, phonographs, electric lights, artificial ice—or even Hoover prosperity, perhaps—the father of his country would have exclaimed, "Golly, what a lie!"

Certainly we have moved some since the battle of Yorktown, and yet we can almost hear the roar of the big gun fired on the morning of October 9th, 1781.

You can lose anything these days. We see where a St. Louis man is advertising for a 250-pound wife that has strayed away.

With the increased cost of baggy-legged pants and the big consumption of cigarettes a college education is getting more expensive every day.

PRIVATE INITIATIVE EXCELS

There are a great many politicians who seem to believe that the path to high office is made easier by advocating that the government take over this business, or go into competition with that. Whether it be a municipal power plant, or a monopolistic insurance fund, the principle behind the move is the same. And they think that the hard times of the last two years have caused the public to take a changed attitude in regard to government and business.

It is difficult to believe that the people will adopt socialism as a solution to transient economic maladies. The spectacle of debt-ridden Australia, with its high taxes, its serious unemployment situation and its industrial stagnation, should serve to show what socialism, when carried far enough, accomplishes. The American public has been the principle of private initiative give us the highest wage and living standards in the world—a standard which, for the most part, has been pretty well maintained even during the present trying period. And the chances are they believe that private initiative—given a fair chance—will pull us through again and bring us eventually to new and unexcelled heights of progress and prosperity.

Probably by now the ex-Kaiser realizes that the mistake he made was in not fighting the other nations one at a time.

Another way to tell whether your wife is doing all of her own cooking is to note the number of tin cans she throws out.

"What shall we do with out children?" asks an exchange. We don't know, but we know what dad would have done with his.

Face cream and powder doesn't look so bad when properly used, but most girls put it on as though they were using a putty knife.

Relief committees all over the country, in preparing for the worst, are acting very wisely. Usually when you prepare for the worst, it doesn't get that bad.

LIPTON'S WILL ASSURES RACE

London, Oct. 4.—Despite his death, Sir Thomas Lipton's brilliant bid for the America's cup, emblematic of international yacht-racing supremacy, will continue.

Unless the multi-millionaire tea magnate and sportsman executed a change in his will just prior to his death and set aside a substantial fund to assist any Britisher attempting to lift the "old mug" that eluded him over a period of 31 years of trying.

A few months before his death, Sir Thomas Lipton confided to a friend that he had included in his will a clause enabling his contest for the America's Cup to continue posthumously.

"If I were to die tomorrow," he said at the time, "there will be enough money left behind to have another go at the cup."

HELPFUL HINTS TO P-T. A. WORKERS

Aside from having something useful to sell, the thing most useful in telling the world you have it. Publicity is the avenue for telling. Keeping a record of that publicity is a second essential. To this end publicity record books are a part of Parent-Teacher machinery.

There is no longer any competition for prizes along this line. Awards are based only on rules compiled with. A few salient rules follow:

1. If possible use a cover 12x18 inches, opening either way. This uniformity in size is an aid in packing, handling and display.

2. Place the name of the association, the city, and the state on the outside cover.

3. On the upper left hand corner on the inside of the front cover paste inclusive dates covered by the publicity, the type of the association, the name of the chairman, the number of inches of newspaper and magazine publicity used, the number of clippings and the number of pictures that have been clipped.

4. Arrange all clippings in sequence. Do not use any before April 1st, 1931, nor after the opening date of the convention of 1932 for state publicity. Do not use any before July 1st, 1931, nor after March 15th, 1932, for national publicity. Enter any extras after the return of your book from the convention.

5. Cut and paste neatly and artistically, using mountings desired.

6. On each clipping write in pencil the month, day, year, and name of paper or magazine from which clipping is taken; or paste the date cut from the paper, and paste it above; or if clipping comes mounted with ink on the mounting, above or below the clipping.

7. Make no separation, of inside and outside publicity, but arrange all in sequence. Inside publicity consists of programs, notices to parents, etc.

9. Use only such articles as concern activity of your association or in which your school has had a part. If your association is mentioned in an article primarily to another group, underline the part taken by your association in red ink, and count only the inches marked.

10. Use no snapshots, photographs, except those cut from newspapers or magazines, verse or other matter not strictly publicity. For instance, do not use in a local book national state or local officers. Add these after the return of the book.

11. Use, if you wish, the same cover from year to year, but remove all previous publicity, and replace after return of the book. In grading books one-half point will be deducted for every rule not observed.

CAMPUS CLEANING AT NEVILLS SCHOOL

Equipment to be installed and operation begun by first of year.

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 6.—The State Board of Forestry at a meeting held in the office of Governor Richard B. Russell, Jr., September 30, selected Savannah as the site for the location of the paper research laboratory for the maintenance of which the state legislature appropriated $40,000 for use in 1932 and 1933 with the provision that the sum of $50,000 be obtained from the Chemical Foundation of New York.

Bids for the plant were received from Savannah, Cordele, Brunswick, Albany and Waycross. The bid from Savannah seemed to be the most advantageous.

Dr. Charles H. Herty was chosen to direct the research which has for its purpose the use of various species of Southern woods for the manufacture of white paper. Dr. Herty is a noted chemist, for a number of years engaged in the study of Southern woods for paper production. He is a native Georgian.

Dr. Herty hopes to have machinery installed in the building provided by Savannah so as to begin operation by January, 1932. It is to be large enough an operation to provide information that large paper manufacturers desire.

Harold Witche, from Portland, Ind., who asked for separation from his wife, also demanded that her maiden name be restored.

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain deed to secure debt given by H. F. Finch to the Bank of Statesboro, dated December 28th, 1923, and recorded in the office of the clerk of the superior court of Bulloch county, Georgia, in deed book 69, page 135, the undersigned will sell at public outcry, at the court house in said county, during the legal hours of sale, to the highest bidder for cash, on Tuesday, November 3rd, the following property, to-wit:

All that certain tract or parcel of land lying and being in the 46th G. M. district of Bulloch county, state of Georgia, containing one hundred ten (110) acres, more or less, and bounded as follows: On the north by lands of Mrs. W. J. Wright, east by estate lands of J. S. Mixon, south and west by estate lands of D. C. Finch.

The balance due on this note up to November 3rd, 1931, is $227.59. Said sale being made for the purpose of enforcing the payment of the debt described in said deed to secure debt, the maker having defaulted in the payment of the same. A conveyance will be executed and delivered to the purchaser by the undersigned as authorized in said deed to secure debt.

Banker Saves Pants But Loses His Cash

S. W. Lewis, president of the First National Bank, saved his pants but lost the cash from his pockets when a thief entered his home during last Saturday night and helped himself. Entrance to the home was gained through the back door from which the screen was cut and the latch lifted. From beneath a neighbor's house the thief had obtained a small box on which he stood while opening the door. The pants were taken from a chair in Mr. Lewis' bedroom and were placed on the back porch after the extraction of the cash from the pockets. No clue was left by the thief.

POWER EMPLOYEES IN SESSION TODAY

The Georgia Power Company is host today at a luncheon given for the department heads of some thirty or more women's organizations in Statesboro, Metter, Stillmore, Graymont, Summerville, Garfield, Pulaski, Brooklet and Port. The luncheon was served in the Woman's Club room at 12 o'clock, at which time a number of local guests were present.

Mr. Crews, of the Edison Lamp Company, presented a plan whereby the Georgia Power Company will permit various organizations to represent a substantial commission on the sale of lamp bulbs. It was pointed out that the Georgia Power Company has been very successful heretofore in its fall lamp campaign, and that if the sales of lamps this year equal the commissions of last year it will mean millions of dollars will be paid in commissions to the various clubs of Georgia. The proposition was most enthusiastically received, and it is expected that commissions in Statesboro will reach a very substantial figure.

Among the Power Company officials present were Charlie Ayres, W. B. Farnsworth, A. S. Goss and Miss Leah Parker, of Augusta.

DELAYED MIDWAY ATTRACTIONS MAY BE PLACED IN READINESS FOR FRIDAY AND SATURDAY'S USE

With exhibits equal to, if not better than, any in the history of Bulloch county fairs, the Bulloch Exposition opened its door Tuesday morning. Ideal weather has prevailed throughout the entire week, and many visitors from a distance have come to admire and comment upon the perfection of the agricultural and fancy goods display.

Due to financial entanglements between the midway management and the prefect of Dublin, particularly the carnival company appeared last week in conjunction with a fair, part of the midway organization was held up at Dublin and there was disappointment with regard to the lack of sufficient riding devices on the midway throughout the first of the week.

This matter was partially adjusted through the instrumentality of the Exposition company in conference with the midway management last evening, and today the missing rides are confidently expected to be placed in readiness for use throughout the remainder of the week.

It is expected to have the features present on Children's Day, tomorrow, and the Exposition company has gone to considerable expense in its efforts to make this provision.

While the crowds in attendance have been smaller than anticipated, yet the number has increased during the past two days and the midway was fairly well crowded last evening. Tomorrow is expected to be a big day with the school children from all over the county here. A low rate of ten cents for school children and their teachers has been granted for tomorrow, and school children from the adjoining counties are invited to visit the fair at the same price.

The judging of exhibits was completed Tuesday and ribbons of every color are now in evidence throughout the buildings housing the chief winners are the following:

County schools, Silston first, Ogeechee second, Middle Ground third, and Port fourth.

Best individual general farm display, W. Amos Atkins first, D. A. Tanner second, F. S. Smith third.

In the woman's department for the best display of fancy work, Mrs. W. W. DeLoach first, Mrs. J. C. Hall second; best general display of canned goods, Mrs. Sam Harville first, Mrs. W. C. Howard second, and Mrs. D. A. Tanner third.

The livestock department is filled with splendid specimens of hogs, and the poultry department is equal to any of the past fairs of the county.

Saturday, the last day of the fair, will be especially designated for colored school children and the low rate of ten cents will be granted to them and their teachers.
